

November 2006In this issue.....

Oklahoma AP Wins Katies...Bellafato Named S&T Manager...AP/ONE Contest Entries Due... OK Top Ten Ballots... November Photo of the Month... Member Contributions...From the Staff...AP Product News

Oklahoma AP Wins Katies

The Oklahoma AP collected four Katie Awards in the annual Press Club of Dallas competition.

For the second straight year, the Oklahoma AP staff won the award for best series by a wire service. The series detailed the economic changes that make the state less susceptible to petroleum boom and bust cycles.

Last year, the Oklahoma staff won the best series category for its examination of Oklahoma's military bases and how they would fare under Pentagon downsizing plans.

The Katie Awards contest is open to working journalists and public relations professionals in Arkansas, Colorado, Louisiana, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Texas.

To read 2006 winning stories: <http://www.ap.org/oklahoma>

Bellafato Named Service & Technology Manager

Ron Bellafato has been named Service & Technology manager for the region of Oklahoma, Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana effective Dec. 3.

He will be moving to New Orleans, but still will maintain contact with Oklahoma as part of his new responsibilities. In his new role, Ron will be responsible for implementing AP's customer service and technology initiatives for the four states.

Ron has been here since 1991. He joined the AP on Sept. 8, 1983 as technician based in East Brunswick and in 1984 he became a computer room technician and later that same year was promoted to Field Engineer.

In 1987 Ron was an Operations Manager at AP Headquarters then in 1988 he was promoted to Technical Service Manager.

AP/ONE
Contest
Entries Due

2006 AP/ONE Carl Rogan Awards Program contest rules and labels are available on the Oklahoma AP Web site: <http://www.ap.org/oklahoma>. All entries must be received by 4:00 p.m. Jan. 8, 2007. 2006 contest dates for the General Excellence category were Nov. 8, 9 and 10. Winners will be announced and awards presented at the annual AP/ONE awards banquet March 31, 2007 in Oklahoma City.

OK Top
Ten Ballots

Cast your vote for the top news story in Oklahoma. OK Top Ten Ballots will be available Dec. 4 via state wires and email. Ballots must be returned by Dec. 13 via mail or email: crobertson@ap.org. Only one ballot per member please.

Photo of the Month...

Jack Woolslayer, 9, uses a telescope to get a closer look of the planet Mercury as it transits across the face of the sun Wednesday, Nov. 8, 2006, in Tulsa, Okla. (AP Photo/Tulsa World, Stephen Holman)

November

Member Contributions

Word that OSU legend Eddie Sutton was found semiconscious in his car outside a Stillwater convenience store came from KWTV's Dean Blevins in Oklahoma City.

The Tulsa World had the story about a federal jury delivering a $15 million verdict against Ford Motor Co. in a lawsuit brought by the parents of a teenager who died in the crash of a 1995 Ford Explorer Sport. The World also provided a story about a judge who set aside a divorce decree. He had made the decree before realizing the two people involved were both women.

The Oklahoman provided a story about the disappearance of computer discs containing the Social Security numbers and other personal information of about 1,400 veterans treated at a McAlester clinic. Another story from The Oklahoman detailed the actions of three brothers who were caught in a stolen van with a wanted man during a police chase.

Melissa Gandall of KTOK had the story when Tinker Air Force Base named a building after Air Force Sgt. Jason Norton who was killed in Iraq.

Also from KTOK, Peter J. Rudy offered the story of an Oklahoma City tattoo shop owner considering a lawsuit over the portion of a new state law legalizing tattooing which requires a $100,000 bond to operate a tattoo parlor.

From Enid, the News & Eagle provided a story about how cotton, which is a drought-tolerant and heat-resistant crop, is making an agricultural comeback.

The Muskogee Phoenix provided a story on Nov. 18 about how an arsonist was to blame for a fire that significantly damaged a Baptist church building in Oktaha.

Ken Henson of Oklahoma City's KWTV and Jerry Bohnen of KTOK brought early word that an Oklahoma County assistant district attorney was arrested for driving under the influence of drugs (a prescription pain killer) after a traffic accident.

The Norman Transcript provided a story about the director of the Fred Jones Jr. Museum of Art at the University of Oklahoma stepping down to take a position at the Taft Museum of Art in Cincinnati.

From Tulsa's KOTV, Chris Russell offered the story of a 4-year-old Tulsa boy who was reported missing by his father and then was found safe. The father was arrested after admitting he got drunk and forgot where he had left the child.

The Journal-Record in Oklahoma City provided a story about a company that is filling a rising demand for pet funerals.

Kevin King of Tulsa's KTUL offered several stories, including word that two Tulsa County jail employees were among five people arrested in separate cases of smuggling drugs into the jail.

The McAlester News-Capital provided a story about a wrongful termination and breach of contract lawsuit filed by the city treasurer.

From Tulsa's KRMG, Debra Woodall offered the story that Jenks police created and are selling a commemorative coin to support charity efforts of the Jenks Fraternal Order of Police.

The Shawnee News-Star provided a profile of a cutting horse trainer.

Mike Smith of KWEY and Paul Shields KTJS provided word to AP when a traffic accident killed Associate District Judge Ellis Cabaniss of Clinton.

The Edmond Sun had the story that actress Shirley Jones, who portrayed Laurey, in the 1955 movie version of the Broadway hit "Oklahoma!," will perform songs from the musical next year as part of Edmond's centennial celebration.

The Lawton Constitution had the story of the return of the 6th Battalion, 32nd Field Artillery from Iraq.

The profile of a man who restores "muscle cars" from the 1960s and 1970s was from The Daily Ardmoreite.

The Duncan Banner provided a story about the Stephens County Jail being approved for additional funding that will allow for the hiring of four more jailers.

Evans

Juozapavicius

Jenkins

Murphy

Talley

Good Voice

From the Staff:

The Nov. 7 general election was preceded by stories on each of the key races. On election night, Oklahoma AP was first to report that the state Senate had an equal number of Republican and Democratic members, giving the key tie-breaking vote to the newly elected Democratic lieutenant governor.

Newsman Murray Evans wrote a story about a quirky Oklahoma City business that sells human skeletons. The story moved on the national business wire and ended up being one of the most e-mailed stories on Yahoo.com.

Tulsa correspondent Justin Juozapavicius did a national religion story about an organization that seeks to form church groups at public schools across the country.

He also was the first to report that the state police had determined a Highway Patrol trooper was largely to blame for a traffic accident in which he and a trucker died. The story came after state police had defended the trooper for weeks.

Juozapavicius had a close-to-the-news feature explaining why an unseasonably hot June and the ongoing drought had contributed to the deadliest West Nile season ever in Oklahoma.

Ron Jenkins did a Sunday story about how the pace of Oklahoma executions has slowed, five years after the state had more executions than any other state.

Sean Murphy reported that a crackdown on sexual offenders seems to be having an unintended consequence - fewer offenders are registering.

Newsman Tim Talley had a weekend story about how the state is considering a major upgrade to its statewide vote-counting system.

Newswoman Christina Good Voice reported that the Osage nation had passed a law cracking down on meth crimes.

About AP

What's New

AP Exchange gives members new view into their AP services

AP Exchange offers editors and reporters access to the extensive AP database of content, from any browser, anywhere, anytime. Find news that suits your beat, market and reader interest. Automatically see all related content, get one-click access to main wires and your favorite AP features, send alerts, set saved searches, edit, download and see content all in one place.

AP Exchange is free of charge and is being very well received by editors and reporters across the country. Besides finding news that matters to your readers, AP Exchange can also be used to auto publish niche AP news of local interest to your Web site. For more about AP Exchange, speak to your COB or check out www.ap.org/apexchange.

AP Exchange also offers your newsroom expanded access to the AP Wire. Datastream members can choose to see expanded slices of the entire AP database categorized by popular topic. If education is a big theme in your newsroom, then select the Education Topic. This gives you virtually every education story AP writes. Is energy an important industry in your market? Subscribe to the Energy Topic and access virtually all energy stories AP writes. There are 21 Topics today with more coming in the near future.

For Full Datastream members, AP 360 offers your newsroom smart access to the full AP database. Using AP Exchange's powerful search engine, your reporters and editors can now see virtually the entire AP. Beat reporters will have access to stories from around the world that matter to their beats. AP 360 is an expanded view, but organized smartly so as not to overwhelm a newsroom with more content.

Building great searches is one of the most important advantages of AP Exchange. Using these skills allows editors and reporters to find news that matters to their beats and readers. Build and save searches to find news automatically for news holes or niche publications. To learn how, sign up for School of Search sessions. Held every Thursday at 11 a.m. and 4:30 p.m. ET, each class takes 30 minutes and teaches participants basics and the tips and tricks for building searches in AP Exchange. Sign up now for the next session. RSVP to talkback@ap.org

AP Money & Markets

AP Money & Markets has launched, offering newspapers a new look and new options for financial data in print and online. We're "thinking outside the box" to find innovative, consumer-friendly ways to provide financial data to readers. Money & Markets offers readers what they need to know fast, with a concise mix of data, text and graphics.

Nearly 30 papers are either running the new print service or are testing it while another 30 or so newspaper Web sites are adding it to their sites, including The Commercial Appeal (www.commercialappeal.com) and the St. Louis Post-Dispatch (www.stltoday.com).

See examples of all the print and online options for AP Money & Markets at www.ap.org/markets. Get general information about this new service, and see detailed descriptions and samples of all the modules the service offers.

AP covers more than 6,000 midterm races on election night

On Nov. 7, with the balance of Congress on the line, The Associated Press covered more than 6,000 midterm races. Throughout the night, from the moment the polls closed, the AP reported on movements in the battle to control the U.S. House of Representatives and U.S. Senate, as well as statehouses, legislatures and scores of other state and district offices.

You can learn more about how AP covered the vote count, called the winners and provided comprehensive reporting and analysis of the 2006 Midterm Elections on AP.org. <http://www.ap.org/elections2006/index.html>

Travel Online helps readers plan their next holiday trip

AIRLINE	FLIGHT	DESTINATION	TIME	GATE
RYANAIR	104	LONDON-STN	BOARDING	29
DELTA	134	NEWYORK-JFK	11:35	7
CONTINENTAL	25	NEWYORK-EWR	11:40
AER LINGUS	125	DUBLIN	13:10
AMERICAN AI	7977	DUBLIN	13:10
		CHICAGO
		CHICAGO
BRITISH AIR	0175	LONDON-LGH	13:20
AER LINGUS	5465	LONDON-LGA	13:20
AER LINGUS	376	LONDON-LHR	13:35

AP Travel Online offers expanded coverage of destinations, trends and travel news. Offered as a hosted service or an XML feed, AP Travel Online delivers a comprehensive suite of travel resources.

Travel Online takes a global focus with an emphasis on timely features, plus columns on subjects from travel with kids to adventure travel that appeal to a variety of reader demographics.

Other features: Weekly Web-only feature on travel guidebooks called "By the Book;" a reader-interactive blog about traveling with kids called "Are We There Yet?" and a Web-only travelogue called "Dispatches" on quirky events around the world.

For more information, contact your AP chief of bureau.

AP calls attention to the ongoing detention of photographer Bilal Hussein

AP International Editor John Daniszewski told a gathering of the Associated Press Managing Editors that the U.S. military's indefinite detention of an Associated Press photographer in Iraq, without charges, is an outrage and should be seen as such by the journalistic community. The full text of Daniszewski's remarks and additional information about Bilal Hussein are available online: http://www.ap.org/response/response_092006a.html.

Newspapers Online

Check out Online Newspaper services. We've created a page devoted to AP's Online Newspaper services: www.ap.org/newspapers. Find out about online services, see links to sites using the services, and find links and contact information to the Online Newspaper team.

Online Video Network wins AP's 2006 Chairman's Prize

The team responsible for creating AP's new Online Video Network has won The Associated Press' 2006 Chairman's Prize. The service, which was brought to the market earlier this year, features unique content with video packages specifically designed for the Web. The Chairman's Prize was created in 2004 to stimulate staff innovation that advances AP and journalism. The prize is named after the current chairman and past chairs Frank Batten, Frank Daniels, William Keating and Donald Newhouse. Details: http://www.ap.org/pages/about/whatsnew/wn_102606a.html

2007 AP Special Editions Calendar

Jan. 9 Love and Romance  Jan. 30 Taxes 	March 6  Home	April 10 Mother's and Father's Day 	 May 2 Summer	 June 5 Weddings
July 10 Back to School 	 and Garden Aug. 7	Sept. 11 Cars 	Oct. 2 Parenting 	 Nov. 6 Holidays	Dec. 4

Contact us!

The Associated Press, 525 Central Park Drive, #202, Oklahoma City, OK 73105

405-525-2121 800-522-3522 Newsletter comments/suggestions: crobertson@ap.org